The NNAP looks at the care babies receive if they are born early or unwell and need to be admitted to a neonatal unit. The NNAP helps neonatal units to improve this care.

The National Neonatal Audit Programme (NNAP) is delivered by the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health (RCPCH), commissioned by the Healthcare Quality Improvement Partnership (HQIP) and funded by the NHS in England, Scotland, Wales and the Isle of Man.

The NNAP publishes a range of resources including an annual summary report and Your baby's care, a parent and carer guide to the report.

The NNAP created a short animation for parents and carers to explain the audit. You can scan the QR code opposite to watch this short video.

To find out more about the NNAP, including how we use your baby's information to help improve care and your rights, you can visit:
