Course aim

To equip paediatricians with an understanding of how violence (in various forms) impacts on children and young people, leading to safeguarding issues that may be observed in a clinical setting, and the skills to address them.

Learning outcomes:

By the end of the course, delegates will be able to:

- Describe national themes of different forms of violence (such as gender-based violence and gang violence including where children and young people are perpetrators) which may have safeguarding implications
- Recognise signs demonstrating impact of violence in children and young people within the clinical setting
- Outline how to support children and young people affected by violence including signposting to relevant organisations
